

Big Homecoming Weekend Slated For October 7th

New Fine Arts Center Will Be Site Of Several Alumni Events

The new Church-McKee Arts Center will be the focal point this year as Potomac State's sons and daughters return to their Alma Mater on Saturday, October 7, for a full day of homecoming activities.

A coffee hour and registration will take place in the new structure from 9 a.m. until 10:30 a.m. and the traditional homecoming parade through the downtown area is scheduled for 11 a.m. under sponsorship of the Campus Circle K Club.

Luncheon will be served at noon at the Kelley Armory after which a brief business session of the college Alumni Association will be held.

At 2 p.m. the Potomac State Catamounts will meet Ferrum College of Virginia in a game on Stayman Field.

An after-game reception has been planned from 4:30 to 6 p.m. in the Arts Center and the annual homecoming ball will take place in the gymnasium from 9 p.m. until midnight.

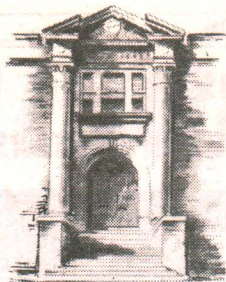

Parking facilities will be available for alumni and their guests immediately adjacent to the Arts Center.

Reservations for the luncheon must be made in advance and a

New Arts Center To Be Dedicated In Honor Of Church And McKee

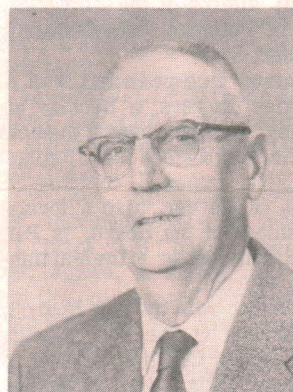

Prof. VanScoy Dies In Canada

Funeral services were conducted Friday, July 28, for A. K. Van Scoy, associate professor of physics at Potomac State College, who died July 24 at his summer home on Raven Lake, near Virginiatown, Northern Ontario, Canada. Interment followed in the National Cemetery at Winchester, Va.

Prof. Van Scoy, who was 67, was a native of Good Hope, W. Va. He earned his A. B. degree at Salem (W. Va.) College and his M. S. at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn. His undergraduate work was in math and science and his graduate study was in supervision and physics.

His work in the educational field began in 1921 and through the years he served as teacher, principal, and guidance directors at numerous schools and military academies in the West Virginia-Virginia area.

He belonged to numerous professional, civic, and fraternal organizations; was a veteran of World War I, and a member of the Methodist Church. He was a past president and secretary-treasurer of the Keyser Kiwanis Club and was a past Lieutenant Governor of the 5th Division of West Virginia Kiwanis Clubs.

He is survived by his wife, June (Stone) Van Scoy, who re-

Former President E. E. Church and the late Dean K. S. McKee, whose names have practically become synonymous with Potomac State College through the years have been honored by having the latest campus building, the Church-McKee Arts Center, named in their honor.

Formal dedication ceremonies of the $1.4 million structure, are tentatively scheduled for Thursday, November 2, as part of a varied program marking Lively Arts Week, which will commence October 30 and continue through November 4 which has been designated as Parents' Day.

The new building, located at the west end of Arnold Street in the area formerly known as Arcadia Heights, is intended to house primarily the Department of Music and a 950 seat auditorium.

The building is being named in honor of Dr. Ernest E. Church who was president of the college from 1936-1964, and the late Kirkland S. McKee, dean of the college from 1936 to 1963.

The Center includes facilities

Governor Appoints Dr. Atwater To Arts, Humanities Council

Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater, professor of journalism and director of public relations at Potomac State College, has been named to a three-year term on the State Arts and Humanities Council, by Governor Hulett C. Smith of West Virginia.

The Council is the organization through which state and federal funds are used to foster and encourage expansion of the arts and humanities.

Dr. Atwater was among those attending the first general meeting of the Council held in Charleston in July.

State University Elects New President, Ralph Bean Heads Board Of Governors

Atty. Ralph J. Bean ('32), of Moorefield, prominent Hardy County lawyer and former president of the West Virginia State Senate, assumed duties July 1 as president of the West Virginia University Board of Governors, succeeding A.B.C. Bray, Jr., of Logan.

The board, which consists of nine members, has general control, supervision and management of the business and educational affairs of the University and of Potomac State College at Keyser.

Named vice-president was K. Douglas Bowers, a Beckley attorney, who has been a member of the board since 1945. Replacing Atty. James H. Swadley Jr. ('36), of Keyser, also a former president of the Board, is Paul B. Martin, editor of the Martinsburg Journal.

Meeting with the new Board of Governors at the July meeting was James Gindling Harlow, of Norman, Okla., who on September 1 becomes the 16th president of West Virginia University. He was elected to the post on May 21 to succeed Acting President, Dr. Harry B. Heflin.

Mr. Bean, a native of Moorefield, is married to the former Carrie R. Muntzing, of Maysville, and they are the parents of five children, two of whom are WVU graduates and members of Phi Beta Kappa. The new Board President is engaged in the practice of law in the counties of Mineral, Hampshire, Grant, Hardy, and Pendleton.

After leaving Potomac State College he went on to WVU. He received his A. B. degree there in 1934 and two years later earned an LL. B. degree from the WVU College of Law where he was president of his senior class in 1936.

Ad Building Gets Facelifting During Summer Months

The first phase of a complete renovation on the ground floor of the Administration Building was begun this summer with the establishment of quarters for new business offices and a seminar room for general use on the west side of the building which many alumni will recall as the old biology laboratory.

The remodeling plans will ultimately coincide with construction of the new academic building which is planned at the south end of the campus on the old tennis court which several years ago was converted to a parking area.

President Todd H. Bullard said that the renovation will continue through subsequent summer months until it ultimately makes the Administration Building a complete office facility with the exception of two classrooms in the basement. This summer a facelifting was also done on the stair well at the western end of the building.

The complete use of the Ad Building for office work will probably coincide with the use of the new classroom building in the summer of 1969.

Alumni Among New Members Joining Faculty And Staff At Potomac State

Ten new instructors, five new staff changes, and promotion of six other faculty members for the 1967-68 school term have been announced by President Todd H. Bullard.

Returning to the campus as chairman of the English Department is Dr. Louise McNeill Pease, who will serve as professor of English. Dr. Pease, who has been professor of English and history at Concord State College since the fall of 1962, served in the English and history departments at Potomac State from 1959 to 1962. She has an AB degree in English from Concord and an MA in English and history at Miami University of Ohio. She was awarded her Ph. D. from West Virginia University in 1959. She has had varied experience in the public schools and colleges of the mountain state and has authored several books as well as numerous articles in many of the nation's leading magazines.

Named as chairman of the Division of Social Sciences is Dr. Dallas B. Shaffer, former instructor at the Parkersburg Branch of West Virginia University and for four years associate professor of history at Fairmont State College.

Dr. Shaffer earned his B.A. degree in history at the University of Richmond, and his master's and doctorate in history at WVU. He holds membership in several professional organizations and has authored several historical articles and booklets dealing with Civil War battles in West Virginia.

Dr. Maurice Powell, also formerly with the Parkersburg Branch of WVU, has been appointed chairman of the Division of Natural and Physical Sciences. A former research chemist with the American Cyanamide Company, he has held various teaching positions in high schools and colleges including Birmingham Southern College.

The new assistant professor of modern languages will be Robert L. Whitmer ('56), of Petersburg, who will teach French and Spanish. An alumnus of Potomac State College, he completed his graduate studies at Ohio State University where he was awarded a master's degree. He has taught in public schools of both Mineral and Grant Counties.

Duke Anthony Whitmore, formerly of Baltimore, Md., and more recently a member of the faculty of Concord College at Athens, has been named as an instructor in English and dramatics. He formerly attending Shepherd College, the University of Baltimore, and received his master's degree from West Virginia University. He is married to the former Miss Constance Mustoe ('62), of Keyser.

Capt. Herbert Hartman, who recently retired from the U.S. Navy, will be coming to the campus as an associate professor of engineering. A graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, he holds a bachelor's degree in engineering from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and has had a long career in naval engineering and construction work, the most recent of which was at China Lake, Calif.

A new instructor in chemistry will be Frank Deskins, of Delbarton, W. Va., who holds both bachelor and master's degrees in chemistry from Marshall University. He was employed briefly as a high school teacher and also for chemical firms in the Charleston area.

Three part-time instructors will also be joining the faculty, according to Dr. Bullard, who said they will be: Dr. Frederick C. Haas and Jack Beard, both of Westernport, and both employees of Luke plant of West Virginia Pulp and Paper. They will be teaching courses in physical sciences in place of Jasper T.

Potomac State Gets Funds For New Building

Word has been received from Senators Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph and Congressman Harley O. Staggers that the Appalachian Regional Commission approved a $330,000 grant in Federal Appalachian Funds for the construction of a higher education vocational and technical center building on the campus of Potomac State College. Bids for construction of the building are due to be let in January, with actual construction scheduled to begin in March. Completion of the structure is set for the summer of 1969.

The $330,000 Appalachian funds are to be matched by $330,000 from the Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963, and $165,000 from the Capital Improvements Fund, making a total cost for the building of $825,000.
